Terms and Conditions

Bushcraft, including Firecraft, Shelter Building, Nature Watching, Foraging and Cooking with 'Wild' Foods, Nature Collecting, Pond Dipping and Insect/Butterfly Trapping and Netting, use of hand tools and playing in the outdoors inherently involves a certain amount of risk, which serves a vital role in a child's development.

By ticking below you understand that by its nature, bushcraft involves tool use, though carefully monitored and risk/benefit assessed, it means some risk is inevitable. You agree that cuts, grazes, burns, falls and injury can happen while children are on a bushcraft camp and will not sue for such by confirming you are aware of the risks involved and you are and your child in good health prior to taking part. You give Sligo Woodland School permission to give first aid in accordance with our Forest School Leaders level of first aid training or to refer your child for medical treatment if necessary.

I consent to the above medical declaration:

Cancellation Policy

As we are holding a place for your child where numbers on each course are limited, we will take a 50% cancellation fee if we have less than one weeks advance notice, we charge 75% of the fee if we have two days notice, and 100% within 24hrs. Although highly unlikely, we reserve the right to change or cancel any programme if deemed necessary. If we cancel due to severely bad weather and if it is deemed unsafe to go outside due to high winds, we will refund your fee if the full day is cancelled or you can choose to attend an alternative date. Please tick you agree with policy
